LEVERAGE DISCLOSURE

Using borrowed money to finance the purchase of securities, options contracts, commodities and/or crypto assets involves greater risk than using cash resources only. If you borrow money to purchase securities, options contracts, commodities and/or crypto assets, your responsibility to repay the loan and pay interest as required by its terms remains the same even if the value of the securities and/or crypto assets purchased declines.

STATEMENT NOTES

Self-directed client accounts holding securities, options contracts, and commodities (such as precious metals) as well as accounts managed by Wealthsimple Inc. but held at Wealthsimple Investments Inc. are protected by CIPF within specified limits in the event Wealthsimple Investments Inc. becomes insolvent. Precious metals are not covered under CIPF upon redemption for physical delivery. A brochure describing the nature and limits of coverage is available upon request. www.cipf.ca.

Free credit balances in non-registered accounts represent funds payable on demand which, although properly recorded in our books, are not segregated and may be used in the conduct of our business. Cash balances in registered accounts are held in trust by Canadian Western Trust. Occasional failed deliveries from executing brokers can cause shares to be desegregated based on approved segregation logic.

A statement of financial condition and a current list of directors and officers for Wealthsimple Investments Inc. will be furnished upon request. Clients in British Columbia are entitled to certain additional information about Wealthsimple Investments Inc., including information about commissions and fees that we charge, and about any administrative proceedings that may relate to the firm or its staff.

All sales of securities, options contracts and commodities are disclosed to the Canada Revenue Agency or Revenu Québec on a yearly basis. These transactions must be reported on your annual income tax return. Keep this statement for income tax purposes, as no other will be provided in respect to these transactions. Fully paid securities lent under Wealthsimple Investments Inc. (WSII) fully paid lending program are not eligible for Canadian Investor Protection Fund (CIPF) coverage. Fully paid securities not lent under WSII fully paid lending program and held at WSII, as at the date of insolvency of WSII, are eligible for CIPF coverage.

CIPF does not cover the client’s fully-paid securities that are on loan under the FPL program. There is a risk that, in the event of a Dealer insolvency, if there is a shortfall in the assets available in the customer pool, the client may not receive back the securities on loan. All fully-paid securities of clients in the FPL program that are not on loan, however, remain eligible for CIPF coverage.

Some stock loans involve the lender paying (and the borrower receiving) a fee. A lender would be interested in these types of loans when interest rates are higher and the interest earned on the cash collateral exceeds the cost of the fee paid to the borrower. Wealthsimple will lend your shares in this way when there are no loans available where the borrower will pay us a fee, and the interest earned on the cash collateral exceeds the cost paid to borrowers to lend your shares. When this happens, your shares are loaned out and you receive a portion of the interest income. You are not charged for any fee paid to the borrower. These loans are reflected on your stock loan confirmations with a loan rate of 0%.
